

Creativity, Dementia and the Therapeutic Environment

Dalia Gottlieb-Tanaka, M.Arch., PhD

Acknowledgments

This research was achieved with the help and input of many people and organizations. True to its interdisciplinary approach, this compelling topic on creativity, dementia and the therapeutic environment reached across many disciplines.

I would like to acknowledge the many seniors with dementia I interacted with over the years. The seniors were a source of delight, inspiration and deep emotional connection. Many seniors from my early years of research did not live to see this book or would remember they were part of it. I would like to mention Sylvia Sinclair, an artist and teacher. Although she was not included in this publication, Sylvia was an incredible source of inspiration to me in my quest to unlock the psychosocial mysteries of dementia.

In a long list of friends and supporters, I would like to acknowledge Sheila Jones, a writer and editor, who accompanied me for over 30 years through all my endeavours. Her solid support that never failed is one of the reasons for my achievements in this field and others. I have a special place in my heart for Dr. Rita Irwin, from the University of British Columbia, Dr. Marlene Cox-Bishop from the University of Alberta, and Dr. Howard Feldman, from UBC.

I would like to acknowledge Dr. Remi Quirion, Scientific Director of CIHR and Dr. Bruce Miller, Professor of Neurology at the University of California at San Francisco (UCSF), who are probably unaware of the impact they had on my career. Thanks from the bottom of my heart to Julie Marez for her expertise at AutoCad in producing all the drawings for this work, and to David Jones, who helped sort out the formatting.

I keep a special place for my family in this acknowledgment -- for Mineo Tanaka, my husband and my daughter, Carmel, who with her wonderful musical talent accompanied me in many of my sessions with the seniors. I dedicate this work to Mineo, Carmel and my parents who would have been so proud to see my work published.

This research was supported by the Alzheimer Society of Canada, the Scottish Rite Foundation, The Lions Gate Research Foundation, The Society for the Arts in Health Care, and The American Society on Aging.

Table of Contents

Acknowledgments.....	i
Table of Contents.....	ii
List of Figures	v
List of Attachments	vi
List of Drawings	vi
CHAPTER I: INTRODUCTION	1
Thesis Organization	1
Foreshadowing	1
Overview of the Research Problem.....	3
Research Questions	4
Objectives	4
CHAPTER II: LITERATURE REVIEW	6
The Therapeutic Environment	6
Current Arts-Based Programs	7
Definiton of Dementia	8
Definition of Everyday Creativity	9
Arts-based Programs in Dementia Care: The Literature on Special Care Units (SCU) versus Non-special Care Units (non-SCU)	10
Music Therapy.....	14
Strengths and Weaknesses as Music Therapy Links to Creative Expression Abilities and Dementia	16
Music Therapy and the Arts Room in a Therapeutic Environment	18
Occupational Therapy	18
Occupational Therapy and the Arts Room	20
Art Therapy.....	21
Teresa Dalley	22
Shaun McNiff.....	24
J.A. Rubin.....	26
The Performing Arts	27
Reminiscence Therapy, Life Review, Life Reflection and Storytelling	30
Reminiscence, Life Review, Life Reflection, Storytelling and the Therapeutic Environment ..	33
Review	33
New Directions for Research and Implications for Practical Implementation	34
Recommendations	35
Emerging Approaches to Creativity Research	36
Other Perspectives on Creativity and Expression.....	41
The Meaning of Creativity, Gaps in Information.....	43
Creativity and Aging.....	44
Why Creativity and Creative Expression Are Important.....	46
How Seniors with Dementia Experience Everyday Creativity within the Aging Process....	46
.....	46
Physiological Changes Associated with Aging and Dementia	49
Cognitive Changes Associated with Aging and Dementia	54
Social Cognition, Aging and Dementia	56

CHAPTER III: METHODS	60
Qualitative Research	60
Selecting Qualitative Inquiry.....	60
A/r/tography	61
Summary of Research Methods.....	70
Ethics in Research	70
Sites Selected.....	73
The Margaret Fulton Adult Day Care Centre	73
The L'Chaim Adult Day Care Centre	75
Participants Selected	76
Data Collection.....	78
Analyzing Data.....	79
Tools for Collecting Data: Interviews	80
Interviews with Participants at Margaret Fulton Centre	80
Interviews with Participants at L'Chaim Centre	82
Significance of Interviewing Participants at Their Home	83
Tools for Collecting Data: A/r/tography Field Notes.....	83
Significance of A/r/tography Field Notes and Analysis	90
Tools for Collecting Data: Filming.....	91
Tools for Collecting Data: The Intervention – The Creative Expression Activities Program ...	93
Timeframe for the Sessions	93
Selected Sessions from the Creative Expression Activities Program	93
Observed Everyday Creativity	94
Engaging in Creative Expression Activities	95
Tools for Collecting Data: Space Diagrams.....	96
Example of Video Transcript and Analysis	97
Analysis of Videotaped Session	121
CHAPTER IV: UNDERSTANDINGS DERIVED THROUGH INQUIRY	123
Themes That Emerged from the Literature Review	123
Design Principles for a Therapeutic Environment.....	123
Applying the Five Design Principles at the L'Chaim and Margaret Fulton Centres	124
General Recommendations.....	128
Design Principle 6: Provide Opportunities for Different Levels of Participation in Creative Expression Activities.....	129
Design Principle 7: Provide Opportunities to Celebrate One's Ethnicity	131
Physical Changes to the Environment and the Users' Response to Them	133
Summary of Understandings Based on the Inquiry	136
Furniture Arrangements at the Margaret Fulton and L'Chaim Centres	136
CHAPTER V: DISCUSSION	163
Reviewing the Themes.....	163
Reviewing the Design Principles	165
Reviewing the Understandings Reached.....	166
In Dementia.....	166
In Creative Expression Activities.....	167
In the Therapeutic Environment.....	168
Questions for Future Inquiry and Closing Comments	170
The Overall Significance of the Thesis	171
Epilogue	174

Bibliography	178
Appendices	198
A. Samples of Field Notes and Interviews at Margaret Fulton and L'Chaim Day Care Centres
B. A/r/tography Field Notes at Margaret Fulton Adult Day Care Centre
C. Session Planning
D. Sample of Interview Questions

List of Figures

Figure 1: Overview of Thesis	5
Figure 2: Selected Approaches to Creativity Research	9
Figure 3: The Conceptual Framework of the Person-Centered Model versus Medical Model	59
Figure 4: Locations of Margaret Fulton and L'Chaim Adult Day Care Centres	73
Figure 5: Exteriors of Margaret Fulton Centre in North Vancouver, BC	73
Figure 6: Interior shots of Margaret Fulton Centre in North Vancouver, BC	74
Figure 7: Exterior deck at the L'Chaim Adult Day Care Centre in Vancouver, BC	75
Figure 8: L'Chaim Centre Interior Shots	76
Figure 9: Participants at the MFC and LC Centres	77
Figure 10: Margaret Fulton Centre Art Facilitator and a Participant	80
Figure 11: L'Chaim Participants Engaged in Art Activity	82
Figure 12: A Senior with Moderate Dementia at the L'Chaim Centre Designs her Creative Expression Studio.....	89
Figure 13: Participants at L'Chaim and Margaret Fulton Centres.....	89
Figure 14: Participants at the L'Chaim Centre Engaged in Music Activity	90
Figure 15: David L Brown, the Videographer, Sets up the Cameras at the L'Chaim Centre	91
Figure 16: Turning the U table around with the Opening towards the Windows	92
Figure 17: Engaging in Creative Expression Activities at L'Chaim Centre	95
Figure 18: Presentation Board Separating the Main Activity Room from the Kitchen Area at L'Chaim Centre	96
Figure 19: Participants at L'Chaim Centre Bending Wires to 3D Shapes	120
Figure 20: Environmental Analysis of User, Function and Space Requirements for Creative Expression Activities.....	132
Figure 21: Session One – Music at L'Chaim Centre.....	138
Figure 22: Session Two - Repeated Music Activity at L'Chaim Centre	140
Figure 23: Session Three – Friendship at L'Chaim Centre.....	142
Figure 24: Session Four – Bending Wires. Strength versus Weakness at L'Chaim Centre.....	144
Figure 25: Session Five – Designing Creative Expression Studio at L'Chaim Centre	146
Figure 26: Session One – Friendship at Margaret Fulton Centre	152
Figure 27: Session Two – Music at Margaret Fulton Centre	154
Figure 28: Session Three – Music and Drumming at Margaret Fulton Centre	156
Figure 29: Session Four – Massage and the Walkout at Margaret Fulton Centre	158
Figure 30: Proposed Wall Separating the Wandering Path from the Art Room at Margaret Fulton Centre	160
Figure 31: Participant with Moderate Dementia at Margaret Fulton Centre Explains What Creative Expression Means to Her.	162
Figure 32: Interactive Model for Space, Equipment and Function.....	169
Figure 33: Proposed Stained Glass Doors at L'Chaim Centre	175
Figure 34: Images of Natural and Man-made Arches in Israel	177

List of Attachments (in original dissertation)

A: Gottlieb-Tanaka, D. (Producer/Facilitator) & Brown, D.L. (Videographer). (2006). Margaret Fulton Adult Day Care Centre in North Vancouver, BC. (DVD Video 1 of 2). Canada. Unpublished raw data.

B: Gottlieb-Tanaka, D. (Producer/Facilitator) & Brown, D.L. (Videographer). (2006). L'Chaim Adult Day Care Centre in Vancouver, BC. (DVD Video 2 of 2). Canada. Unpublished raw data.

C: Gottlieb-Tanaka, D. (2006). Creativity, Dementia and the Therapeutic Environment. (CD 1 of 1). Unpublished doctoral dissertation. University of British Columbia, Vancouver.

List of Drawings

Drawing LC – 6B: Proposed Floor Plan at the L'Chaim Adult Day Care Centre.....	150
Drawing LC – 6C: Proposed Floor Covering Design – Implemented at the L'Chaim Adult Day Care Centre.....	151
Drawing MF – 5 Proposed Changes to Floor Plan at Margaret Fulton Centre, Adding a new deck to the back room and expanding art area and interior wandering path.....	161